(Part two)

Winston Churchill (During World War II)

Best Line: You ask, what is our policy? I can say: It is to wage war, by sea, land and air, with all our might and with all the strength that God can give us; to wage war against a monstrous tyranny, never surpassed in the dark, lamentable catalogue of human crime.
That is our policy.”

Martin Luther King Jr. (I Have a Dream Speech)

Best Line: ‘We have also come to this hallowed spot to remind America of the fierce urgency of Now. This is no time to engage in the luxury of cooling off or to take the tranquilizing drug of gradualism. Now is the time to make real the promises of democracy.’”

Lyndon Johnson (The American Promise)

Best Line: ‘There is no moral issue. It is wrong — deadly wrong —to deny any of your fellow Americans the right to vote in this country. There is no issue of States rights or national rights. There is only the struggle for human rights. I have not the slightest doubt what will be your answer.’”

Ronald Reagan (At Brandenburg Gate)

Best Line: “Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this wall!”

I have chosen the best lines of four of the greatest speeches in history that changed the world in their time. I shall show you how each can be translated to cover the problems we all face today. Then I shall outline a plan to take back our country within two years. It will require participation of all American citizens.

Let’s begin with

Winston Churchill: We know of course he was speaking of fighting the Germans when he said, to wage war against a monstrous tyranny, never surpassed in the dark, lamentable catalogue of human crime.” He could very easily have been speaking of fighting the deplorable tyranny to which our federal government has sunk. A government hell bent on taking the most successful Republic Nation in the world, placing it in the hands of private corporations (from our currency to our defense and all points in between) with the intent of creating a single world government run by the largest International Corporation CEOs. This is indeed a more lamentable human crime than any legitimately declared war, because then we knew the enemy and fought to defeat them.

Martin Luther King Jr.: Hit the nail on the head even today when he made his statement about the fierce urgency of now. “This is no time to engage in the luxury of cooling off or to take the tranquilizing drug of gradualism.” When the Texas Motorcycle Rights Association was formed it was pointed out that we had a small window of time to save our state through the political process. We have been somewhat successful in our efforts but the window is gone and there is no time to waste. We get only one more concerted effort to save the entire Nation and that time is NOW.

Lyndon Johnson: When Johnson said, ‘It is wrong — deadly wrong — to deny any of your fellow Americans the right to vote in this country’. He was, of course, talking about Black Americans and you notice I did not say African-Americans. There is no such thing. There are Americans of African descent.

Today he could have added, “and have those votes counted”. The voting machines, manufactured in foreign countries and run by their agents have been proven to change the vote count to come out with a preconceived winner. We filed a lawsuit as one of our members with a degree in Computer Science and years of working on the programs used by these machines was present during his Democrat Primary and showed them what was happening. After several times of changing the machines they simply bypassed him, went upstairs and proclaimed those to be the final tallies. After conferring with me in the wee hours of the morning our Warriors went to work in that district and filed suit. Unfortunately, the attorney who took the case filed it two days after the deadline and we didn’t get our day in court. We have to eliminate these machines and have our votes done on paper and counted by hand.

Ronald Reagan: ‘Mr. Gorbachev, tear down that wall.’ Today Reagan could say, Mr. President and all elected and appointed officials, tear down that wall of secrecy between the federal government and the citizens who elected you to represent them.” He would have told them to read all bills and amendments on public television and place them in the public record along with the vote on each. No more of this passing bills “without objection so ordered.” Give us record votes. No more secret executive orders or presidential directives. Each must be issued on prime time TV and Congress must then vote whether to accept them or not in a recorded vote on prime time TV and be printed in the Congressional Record.

THESE ARE JUST A FEW CASES OF WHAT SOME OF THE GREATEST MEN OF OUR TIME SAID IN THEIR DAY AND How THEY WOULD MOST LIKELY HAVE RESPONDED TO OUR SITUATION TODAY.

If someone could come up with a plan to save our nation and return it to a Constitutional Republic, run by the people, with a limited central government, would you be willing to do your part which would be simple and cost you nothing? To have the Constitution be reinstated as supreme law rather than have a President who calls it a “God Damned piece of Paper” joined by Legislators, both federal and state, who have no qualms about setting aside the Constitution at will for the sake of expedience.

If you are such a person then this message is for you! It is to be passed along to your friends and neighbors and to their friends and neighbors etc. etc. etc

Just one more Patriot to hear from before we get down to the real issue. This man was there when the country was being founded. His words ring just as true today as they did at the birth of this once great nation.

“Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death”

Patrick Henry
March 23, 1775

After Patrick Henry made this famous speech before the Virginia House of Burgesses at St. John’s Church, his resolution to organize the militia of Virginia and to put the colony of Virginia on a war footing was unanimously adopted in that colony.

MR. PRESIDENT: It is natural to man to indulge in the illusions of hope. We are apt to shut our eyes against a painful truth -- and listen to the song of that siren, till she transforms us into beasts. Is this the part of wise men, engaged in a great and arduous struggle for liberty? Are we disposed to be of the number of those, who having eyes, see not, and having ears, hear not, the things which so nearly concern their temporal salvation? For my part, whatever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the whole truth; to know the worst, and to provide for it.

I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided; and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future but by the past. And judging by the past, I wish to know what there has been in the conduct of the British ministry for the last ten years, to justify those hopes with which gentlemen have been pleased to solace themselves and the house? Is it that insidious smile with which our petition has been lately received? Trust it not, sir; it will prove a snare to your feet. Suffer not yourselves to be betrayed with a kiss. Ask yourselves how this gracious reception of our petition comports with those warlike preparations which cover our waters and darken our land. Are fleets and armies necessary to a work of love and reconciliation? Have we shown ourselves so unwilling to be reconciled that force must be called in to win back our love? Let us not deceive ourselves, sir. These are the implements of war and subjugation -- the last arguments to which kings resort. I ask gentlemen, sir, what means this martial array, if its purpose be not to force us to submission? Can gentlemen assign any other possible motive for it? Has Great Britain any enemy in this quarter of the world, to call for all this accumulation of navies and armies? No, sir, she has none. They are meant for us: they can be meant for no other. They are sent over to bind and rivet upon us those chains which the British ministry have been so long forging. And what have we to oppose to them? Shall we try argument? Sir, we have been trying that for the last ten years. Have we anything new to offer upon the subject? Nothing. We have held the subject up in every light of which it is capable; but it has been all in vain. Shall we resort to entreaty and humble supplication? What terms shall we find which have not been already exhausted? Let us not, I beseech you, sir, deceive ourselves longer.

Sir, we have done everything that could be done to avert the storm which is now coming on. We have petitioned -- we have remonstrated -- we have supplicated -- we have prostrated ourselves before the throne, and have implored its interposition to arrest the tyrannical hands of the ministry and parliament. Our petitions have been slighted; our remonstrance's have produced additional violence and insult; our supplications have been disregarded; and we have been spurned, with contempt, from the foot of the throne. In vain, after these things, may we indulge the fond hope of peace and reconciliation? There is no longer any room for hope. If we wish to be free -- if we mean to preserve inviolate those inestimable privileges for which we have been so long contending -- if we mean not basely to abandon the noble struggle in which we have been so long engaged, and which we have pledged ourselves never to abandon until the glorious object of our contest shall be obtained we must fight! -- repeat it, sir, we must fight! An appeal to arms and to the God of Hosts, is all that is left us!

They tell us, sir, that we are weak -- unable to cope with so formidable an adversary. But when shall we be stronger? Will it be the next week or the next year? Will it be when we are totally disarmed, and when a British guard shall be stationed in every house? Shall we gather strength by irresolution and inaction? Shall we acquire the means of effectual resistance by lying supinely on our backs, and hugging the delusive phantom of hope, until our enemies shall have bound us hand and foot? Sir, we are not weak, if we make a proper use of those means which the God of nature has placed in our power. Three millions of people, armed in the holy cause of liberty, and in such a country as that which we possess, are invincible by any force which our enemy can send against us. Besides, sir, we shall not fight our battles alone. There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations; and who will raise up friends to fight our battles for us. The battle, sir, is not to the strong alone; it is to the vigilant, the active, the brave. Besides, sir, we have no election. If we were base enough to desire it, it is now too late to retire from the contest. There is no retreat but in submission and slavery! Our chains are forged. Their clanking may be heard on the plains of Boston! The war is inevitable and let it come!! I repeat it, sir, let it come!!!

It is in vain, sir, to extenuate the matter. Gentlemen may cry, peace, peace -- but there is no peace. The war is actually begun! The next gale that sweeps from the north will bring to our ears the clash of resounding arms! Our brethren are already in the field! Why stand we here idle? What is it that gentlemen wish? What would they have? “Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! -- I know not what course others may take; but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!”

Beautifully spoken words by one of my favorite Patriots. I have Liberty or Death tattooed on the left side of my head. Of course I have a Mohawk haircut so it is easily visible. Again these words spoken over 200 years ago, bear semblance to our plight of today. There are those who have done their best to take away our arms, the fruit of our labors and the very document upon which this once great nation was founded. High taxes were one reason for the revolution against the Kings law. If all the taxes at every level had to be paid each time we made a purchase today, the average citizen would be stunned into taking immediate action against them. Take the time to read the Constitution, state or federal, and you will be amazed at the discrepancies between what it says can be done and what is actually taking place.

536 men and women are elected to represent the people at the federal level. Each has a particular role to play and those roles are designated by the Constitution. Congress is made up of two bodies, the House and the Senate. These two bodies make the laws which, in turn, can be signed or vetoed by the President. All monetary bills must originate in the House of Representatives. Though the President can put forth a proposed budget, only the Congress can pass a fiscal budget. The President then signs or vetoes the bill. Any bill vetoed by the President can have the veto overturned by a 2/3 majority vote of both Houses and it then becomes law. So you see there are checks and balances covering every bill throughout the process of becoming law. Unfortunately, passage for many of these bills are hidden from public view so you have no way of knowing how a particular Bill becomes law. The favored way is to have very little if any debate then have the Speaker say, ‘without objection so ordered and another bill has become law with no recorded vote. They can also call for a voice vote and again there is no record of how your legislators vote. Even with a Roll Call vote the bills are written in such a way as to allow items not included in the bill to be added at a later date. Each bill gives the stated issue then adds, “and for other purposes.” These four words at the end of each bill allow Carte Blanche additions for items that are in no way germane to the original bill.

Presidential directives and executive orders are the way a President slips their desires past the public. They can simply issue the directive or order and, unless they are overturned by the Congress, they become law. This has become a simple way of turning our government functions over to the private sector with very little fanfare. By using this method individuals are put in charge of committees that should not even exist without a vote from anyone. They are all simply appointed to carry out duties in a fashion to suit themselves and those who put them into that position. Each such instance moves government a little farther from the scrutiny of those it is meant to serve.

That is where we find ourselves today. We have grown so accustomed to candidates lying while seeking election that we don't pay attention any more. We simply go in and vote for a name we recognize, generally the incumbent, without giving it a thought. Or, even worse, we vote for a candidate based simply on which Party we support. That is if we even bother to vote at all. We have become slaves to a group of men and women, many of whom should be in prison rather than in charge of our welfare.

Before I tell you what can be done to rectify this dilemma let me first tell you a little about my credentials. I dislike using the word I when speaking of the Texas Motorcycle Rights Association. None of our accomplishments would be possible if we had not all done our part. The success of this endeavor will also depend on each of us doing our part.

My name is Sputnik. Yes, only one word, in this world today that causes concern and my plane tickets have been marked more than once for special searches. I just quit flying. My driver's license is the only document that has me listed by my true name. I am a Biker and proud of it. In our world a man's word is his bond. You are loyal to family and friends, fiercely independent and willing to fight for our God-given rights and the Liberty to practice those rights. In my younger days I just wanted to be left alone. Like anyone else I voted and went home considering my job to be done for another two years. I didn't much care what laws were passed. If they were redundant laws I just figured do what you want to the other people but don't try to make me go by those laws and we will get along. Push me and I will push back harder.

I have no problem with peace officers or police officers. I have no use whatsoever for cops. In days of yore a peace officer's job was to keep the peace with the least amount of intrusion into your private life. Today that has changed. They are now called law enforcement officers and their main concern is to enforce laws that should never have been written and pad the coffers. Cops are people who belong behind bars, not behind a badge and a gun.

“The God who gave us life, gave us liberty at the same time; the hand of force may destroy, but cannot disjoin them.”                      Thomas Jefferson

In 1992 I attended my first National Coalition of Motorcyclists Convention in New Jersey along with Bill Carlton. Thanks to US Senator Dave Durenberger, I realized that I had sold my grandkids into slavery to a totalitarian government by not being more involved in the political arena. After discussing the pros and cons with my wife I decided to see what I could do about the situation.

“If there must be trouble, let it be in my day, that my child may have peace.”
Thomas Paine

I founded the Texas Motorcycle Rights Association and began teaching other bikers how the political process really works and how to use it.

My first booklet was “Revolution The Real Solution.” It explained the different meanings given to revolution in the dictionary and then called for a political revolution. The second booklet, which has been spread across the country, was “Five Steps To Freedom” (one step at a time). It began with register to vote, get acquainted and work campaigns, vote in the Primary, become a State Delegate to your Party and finally run for office. At that time I asked the Texas Riders to do just one thing, become State Delegates to the Party of their choice during the next Primary election. I explained that they need not be concerned about the big picture that I had that figured out. If they would do just that one thing and we were successful in taking back our state it would be thanks to them. If we weren’t successful it would be my fault because I hadn’t looked at the big picture properly. I was offering a win-win situation. They did that one thing and it worked beyond even my expectations. We rode into our first Democratic State Convention a rag tag army and rode out as seasoned veterans of the political arena.

I complained about why we weren’t taught politics in school. When it became time to print a new government text book for college I received a call to do an interview. When the new text book came out we had 7 pages in it. Besides doing seminars for biker groups I began getting calls to address college classes. It gives one real satisfaction to see a student’s eyes light up when they realize they are hearing something they haven’t been told prior to your visit. It is doubly satisfying to meet students at the capitol after you have spoken to their class and have them acknowledge their thanks by asking for an autograph. We now have a TV Show in Austin called “Texas Politics Biker Style.” Our shows can be viewed on the internet at our website by the same name. I am recognized most anywhere I go by someone. The next booklet was “Run for Office and Win’ (with very little money). This booklet explained that name recognition was the best way to win an election. If you have a large dedicated staff of volunteers to make your name become a household word then you will win regardless of how much money your opponent spends. Again this training aid became a success and we began putting bikers into office. That gives you some idea how I have spent the last 18 years. I thank God for the Texas Riders who had faith in my plan and worked to make it become a success. We have put Bikers and non-bikers alike in office at all levels of government using these booklets as our guidelines.

I pray that God will give all citizens that same faith and willingness to win this time around. Our country’s future depends on it. . So enough about me; let’s get ready to play the game, the right way.

For the past sixteen years I have followed closely the workings of our government from the city level right on up to the Federal level. I have done this as Founder and State Chair of the Texas Motorcycle Rights Association.

I began by reading the US and Texas State Constitutions over and over again. It was easy to see where no level of government was following the constitutions but the only way I could find written therein to make change was revolution. I therefore wrote a booklet called 'Revolution the Real Solution.'

Of course armed revolution was a lose-lose situation and not to even be considered except as a final recourse. I explained to our members we have a small window of time when we can make change by means of a political revolution but we must all get involved.

I read each bill introduced in Texas and realized that the legislators were aware the bills did not meet constitutional muster. I sat in the Gallery and watched them make a mockery of the Texas Constitution on a daily basis by voting to suspend the constitutional rules and vote on a bill. It became very clear to me that they did this knowing that no one was paying any attention to what they did during the session. During this time I purchased a satellite dish so I could watch the Feds in session on C-Span and C-Span 2. I became even more incensed.

I then wrote a booklet 'Five Steps to Freedom' (one step at a time). I had determined that the Party in the majority ran the government. If we were to make changes in our Texas legislature we had to get involved in the Parties as delegates, committee members and state officers. We had to work campaigns to elect people we could trust. Finally we had to elect our members to office at all levels of government in our state. We were successful at each step and we continue to be even more successful with each election. About this time I was approached and told that this plan couldn't work just at the state level. There were people in government who believed as I did and would be more than happy to work with me to go national with my message. These people would give me inside information and would pay the cost of putting the word out on a national level. Their positions would not allow them to speak out but I could be the spokesman. It has been my experience that when you are offered this type help you pay a price. I respectfully declined and became a national political speaker on my own based on the reputation of TMRA 2. With support mostly from NCOM, the Aim Attorneys and the member groups I have done Workshops and Seminars in 44 states across the country.

Besides using C-Span and C-Span 2 I began using the url www.thomas.loc.gov to read the federal bills, and find who authored them as well as the co-sponsors. I read the amendments offered and by whom and how they were voted on. I then could read the final action on the bill.

Sounds good doesn't it? What you probably aren't aware of is that most bills don't even receive a hearing and pass without a vote. It is a matter of record that about 90% of the Senate bills were passed in that fashion this session. Is that what you call a government of the people, by the people and for the people?

"If, then, the control of the people over the organs of their government be the measure of its republicanism, and I confess I know no other measure, it must be agreed that our governments have much less of republicanism than ought to have been expected; in other words, that the people have less regular control over their agents, than their rights and their interests require.”

Thomas Jefferson

I signed up for Congress.org to get Email reports on the federal government actions. Everywhere that you can imagine to stay up with what happens on the state and federal level I have set up on my computer.

I was fortunate enough to get involved with a group of like minded folks and am a Charter Member of Biker Republic. This is strictly an informational group and between them not much happens that they aren't aware of. They can make computers walk and talk and what one may miss the other one posts to the list. We also have put up a list called infobikerrepublic.org where anyone can sign up to post information on any subject. There is a list forurn@bikerrepublic.org where you can go and discuss anything you read on the info list. To sign up for either of the two lists just go to <http://bikerrepublic.org/maillinglists.html> and sign up. No personal attacks and no discussion on the info list. These lists generate a lot of information but it will really come in handy if you are going to do your part in what needs to be done. This will be the most important thing you ever do in your life and I'm sure you all believe you have done some important things in your lifetime.

Remember I told you we began our movement in Texas with “Revolution The Real Solution”? With all the happenings during the past year I realized that our window of time had closed for making change politically. I became very distraught as I watched the light go out when the widow slammed shut.

Of course there have been ups and downs in this sixteen year war but we have always continued to move forward. Finally I sensed a glimmer of light coming through a crack at the bottom of the door where career politicians had left themselves a way out and I knew we had one more chance.

During the past six years my health has deteriorated drastically. I use a nebulizer machine each four hours, six different inhalers at set times of each day, a C-Pap machine at night and have been put on oxygen 24/7. My time is also running out. I chose to check first with the Warriors of the Texas Motorcycle Rights Association for guidance. I explained the basics of what I intended to do and asked only one question of them. Do I do this as State Chairman of Texas Motorcycle Rights Association or do I leave the association out of it and simply do it on my own. The overwhelming response from those Warriors was “you are the chairman and we are behind you.” Tears came into my eyes as I read those messages and they are now as I write this little part (break time)

Members of this association have never let me down which is the reason for our success. Without the faith and support of my Brothers and Sisters I would still just be a dumb assed biker from the wrong side of the track, quite possibly in prison or dead by now. I thank God for these Warriors. Instead we are one of the most respected and successful organizations in our state capitol today. So with full support of those who have been there done that I am going to be brutally blunt.

For the last few years, each time something goes wrong that draws the ire of a few citizens each Party points the finger at the other Party to place the blame. I recently read an Email that said in part:

“If the Democrats want a balanced budget and the Republicans want a balanced budget, why don’t we have a balanced budget? If the Democrats want independence from foreign oil and the Republicans want independence from foreign oil, why don’t we have independence from foreign oil?”

You get the picture. They each claim to want all the things we don’t have but put the blame on the other Party.

How did we get here?

We went off the gold standard and made our money worthless. Then we began privatizing the federal government in direct opposition to the Constitution. We turned the Federal Reserve over to a privately owned banking system. The Constitution says the Federal government prints our money but that isn’t true any more. Our currency went from being a Silver Certificate to being a Federal Reserve note. But the Federal Reserve is now a privately owned bank, it is no longer federal and there is no reserve. They simply print tons of money and it is only as good as other countries consider it to be. They now consider it to be worthless. Since oil is traded in American dollars and the American dollar is not worth much anymore the price of oil rises.

Government deregulation allows companies to buy up oil futures with no intention of using the oil so the price goes up even more. The price is no longer based on supply and demand.

The financial crisis we find ourselves in right now could be seen coming a long way off if you were watching. George Bush was concerned his legacy was not going to be so good and came up with a plan to improve it. Bill Clinton had begun the program of helping more people become homeowners. Bush wanted a plan to increase home ownership for the minorities and the poor people. The lending institutions obliged. They came up with a plan for little or no down payment with an adjustable rate mortgage. That way the payments started out low and went up quickly. When we began seeing people moving out of government housing into $150,000 homes we knew they couldn’t afford them. When we began hearing about lending institutions fudging on income levels so buyers could qualify we were positive they couldn’t afford them. But greedy second buyers looking to make a fortune bought them up anyway expecting that if anything went wrong the federal government would bail them out.

AIG is one of the biggest players in this debacle. I did a run down on them and boy did they fit the bill. They were already pegged as another Enron waiting to happen and happen they did. We leave them alone and they go bankrupt. Their shareholders lose money. Still their CEO who was just fired gets a $68,000,000 severance package plus his last year's salary of over $14,000,000. Should taxpayers bail them out? HELL NO! This is just a small part of what is wrong.

Just look at FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency). This agency was created by presidential directives and executive orders. Congress did not vote on them and the members are appointed. Yet the emergency they were set up for is actually if the President declares a state of emergency, real or imagined, then FEMA takes over. How can something like that happen?

We have 536 people who run a country of 300 million people. All states elect the President, Each state elects two Senators and the states elect 434 Representatives based on their percentage of the population according to the census taken every ten years.

George Bush was a great Governor in Texas. Based on how easy he was to work with here we supported him for President. It didn't take long to realize we had made a mistake. Not for the reason you may imagine.

As I tell my TV audience each time I tell them something is wrong, I point my finger directly at the camera and tell them, 'But it is your fault, you set on your ass and let it happen.' Now imagine I am pointing my finger at you. Washington DC has become a cesspool. Once inside the beltway it becomes apparent that you have to dive in and come out smelling like shit if you are to survive. BUT IT IS YOUR FAULT! You set on your ass and let it happen. Ron Paul is one of the few men I know that it hasn't happened to. He offered you the change you claimed you wanted and you turned him down. Now at the risk of having you turn me down I too am going to offer you your last chance for change. If you don't act on this offer you will be living in the North American Union run by the CEOs of major corporations at best.

Forget About the president

Neither of the current candidates is fit to be president of the country envisioned by our Founding Fathers. They are both liars. Neither of them can do the things they promise and if they could do then, they would not be following the Constitution they swear to uphold and defend. They will take that Oath with no intention of being true to it. John McCain has been taking that Oath all the days of his life and has scorned it like a forgotten lover. Obama has not performed any better the few times he has taken it. If you are true to this Revolution, the next President will pay very close attention to what he is swearing to.

“There is little need of commentary upon this clause. No man can well doubt the propriety of placing a president of the United States under the most solemn obligations to preserve, protect, and defend the constitution. It is a suitable pledge of his fidelity and responsibility to his country; and creates upon his conscience a deep sense of duty, by an appeal, at once in the presence of God and man, to the most sacred and solemn sanctions, which can operate upon the human mind.” Joseph Story 1833

The negative campaigning they are doing is because they don't have anything substantial to offer. John McCain has never drawn a paycheck that didn't come from the government and never will. If Obama wins he will draw $200,000 from the government for the rest of his life. Either can be the biggest crook in town but that just means they will fit right in. Be that as it may, the winner in November will be there for four years. For more years than most have lived, our presidents have jointly worked to destroy this great Republic and change it to a social club for the wealthy by buying the votes of the poor with taxpayer dollars.

“The same prudence which in private life would forbid our paying our own money for unexplained projects, forbids it in the dispensation of the public moneys.”
Thomas Jefferson

Andrew Jackson was elected to Congress. When he was running for re-election he went back to the man who set up a meeting and fundraiser for him when he first ran. He told the man, ‘Remember when I ran for office you supported me and did a fundraiser for me? Well I'm running again and would like your help.’ The man told him, “Yes! remember but you lied to me and I won't be voting for you this time” When Jackson asked what he meant he told him, “Remember when that town's (it slips my mind which one at the moment) city hail burned down and you voted to give them money to rebuild it? That was my money. If I wanted to give them money that was up to me but it wasn't up to you to give them my money.” Andrew Jackson lost that election and moved to Texas. Where are the men like that today? Is it OK for legislators to spread your money all over the world, including to our enemies? Do you still vote for them because they are in your Party? Despite the shame of it you do, which makes you a willing accomplice to the corruption. Hopefully you will see fit to join the Revolution and abandon the Party.

Forget about your State Senator:

Each State only has two US Senators and they are voted on by the entire state. They each get six year terms so you can vote on one of them this time and the next time one of them comes up for a vote you can vote for them. Their main duty is to approve or disapprove federal judges, including Supreme Court Judges submitted by the President for confirmation. This is a very important duty but again I say they get six year terms so that doesn't fit into our time frame. Once we accomplish the first goal of this war on corrupt government and citizen apathy the rest will fall like dead leaves in a level 5 hurricane.

NOW WERE READY TO PLAY!!!!

Politics is the greatest game in town once you learn how to play it. You are about to learn how to play it with the best of them if you have the qualities.

To qualify to be a player in this game you must first be a man of honesty, honor and integrity.

Your word is your bond and a handshake is a contract that requires no written words.

You must have faith and trust.

You must have the faith and trust possessed by those Warriors in Texas who accepted on faith that I had a plan that would work and trusted me to have the big picture aid out correctly to insure victory.

You must have commitment.

You must be committed to protect our Constitution from enemies, both domestic and foreign. Committed to spending the next year to not only finding the information you will need to make the correct decision in your area but to share that information by word of mouth, by letters to the editor and contact with your federal congressman by letter, phone and personal meetings.

It is time now to take some of those Five Steps:

Register To Vote, and get everyone you know registered to vote. This entire plan is based on being a registered voter. Even if you believe yourself to be registered, double check. Look at your voter registration card or call your county court house to be certain. With all the attempts at purging the voter roles it is just possible your name was removed. Don't just register to vote, get out and do it.

During a non-presidential election the number of actual voters will be less than during a presidential election year. Records in Texas show it averages between 48- 55%. That means our Revolution receives a 50% boost just by staging during the next election cycle. The timing will never be better and we can't afford to fail.

All we face is the loss of a little time. In some countries those who attempt to vote face the possibility of harassment or even death if they try to vote. Still their voting record is nearly twice as high as is the percentage of those voting in this country.

After our first session I gave a copy of Five Steps To Freedom to every legislator in the state capitol. I told them we didn't come down here to just pass a bill or kill a bill. We came down here to take back our government. Several of our Warriors said, "You shouldn't have done that". I told them, "I'm kind' a like Billy Jack. It's more fun to tell them what you are going to do and then do it."

We did.

Get Acquainted, with those in your congressional district in the area. Pay close attention to how your Congressman votes during the upcoming session. Be especially watchful of the bills they author, co-author or sponsor. Be mindful of whether those bills and other bills they vote yes for are within the purview of the powers granted to them, as federal legislators, under the Constitution. Share this information with everyone with whom you come in contact throughout the year. Write a letter to the editor of your local newspaper when that Congressman does something wrong. Be just as quick to compliment them by the same means when they do something right. It may surprise you to know they read those newspapers from home.

I recommend that you give a copy of this booklet to your Congressman. Let them know what you are looking for in your next Federal Legislator and if they can't walk the walk they can walk on down the road next election. Give them every opportunity to be the best that they can be once your expectations have been laid on the table. If they can meet the challenge that is fine, support them for re-election. If they veer off just a little bit for the sake of expedience it is positively time for change.

Work a Campaign, choose your next candidate wisely.

The purpose of this entire plan is to remove those Congressmen from office who have forgotten what their duties are to the country and to the individuals they have been elected to serve. I know that most voters consider themselves to be Republican or Democrat. After all these years of following politics intently, it has currently become my life, there is basically no difference in the two Parties. By that I mean their main concern is re-election and power. I strongly recommend that you search for a qualified candidate in the other Parties this time around also. Remember this is a one time deal. The message sent once this purging is accomplished will ring out for years to come. Then it will just require maintenance.

"Let each citizen remember at the moment he is offering his vote that he is not making a present or a compliment to please an individual — or at least that he ought not so to do; but that he is executing one of the most solemn trusts in human society for which he is accountable to God and his country."

Samuel Adams, in the Boston Gazette, April 16, 1781

Your prior contact with the candidates has given you a choice as to whom you will support in the election and why, Personal involvement in a campaign is better and receives more notice, from a candidate or their staff, than a cash donation. Others may disagree and I won't argue with their views. We began on the assumption, a citizen becoming educated in the process and getting personally involved can make a difference. This theory has been proven to be correct. Flyers are picked up at the campaign headquarters at a designated time and passed out on the street, in shopping malls or anywhere not prohibited by law. You may volunteer as often or as sparingly as you wish. Once or twice a week about 2 hours per day is generally sufficient.

Stuffing envelopes is the best way to become familiar with other campaign workers, the candidate and their staff. You will meet with other workers to collate, fold and put campaign material into envelopes to be mailed later. This task gets your candidates message out and allows you time to interact with others who could be helpful to your cause in the legislative session. This is the perfect job for someone not adept at going out and talking to strangers but can be group friendly.

The next form of service in a campaign is working phone banks. For this task you will show up at a designated time and location which will have several phones installed. You will be given a list of names to call and to convince the person with whom you speak to not only vote but to vote for your candidate. 2-3 hours per evening, twice a week is considered sufficient but if you can give more time, do so. For this assignment you must have a strong clear voice and have no problem speaking with strangers. As a phone solicitor you won't have as much time to interact with other workers but your services won't go unnoticed.

With the advent of cell phones it is possible to work from your own home at your own pace calling people you know and asking them to get together for coffee at the local coffee shop. Meet with several at a time and form working groups in your Congressional District.

Putting up yard signs is the tried and true method of involvement in a campaign. Again you can do as much or as little as you choose. You will need a crew and a pickup for this job and it is normally done on weekends. If you choose to do the standard job, you will pick up assembled signs at a predesignated location. You will be given a list of specific areas to cover and a list of addresses where the occupants have agreed to allow signs to be erected. It doesn't hurt if you can provide extra locations for this project. You will generally spend most of the day Saturday and possibly Sunday afternoons on this assignment. You will travel to each location and speak with the occupant if possible. Identify yourself and verify their willingness to allow the signs to be posted. Place the sign(s) in the location of their choice and move on to the next location.

If you have the time and manpower and really want to get involved you can run the entire sign campaign. If this much involvement is possible it will really be beneficial to you in the future. Signs will be picked up unassembled and you will not only distribute them but assemble them as well. If your interest runs in this direction we will be more than happy to train you and your crew as to the best methods possible to conduct this very important undertaking. As you move on to Step 5 you will see why this is so important. This is the ultimate in volunteer duty. By accepting this much responsibility you show yourself as willing to go the extra mile. You also are freeing up other workers and cash to be used by the candidate elsewhere.

Finally, knock on doors:

Walk down the street three — four blocks in one direction knocking on each door on that side of the street. Cross the street and do the same thing going back the other direction. Then move on down and start again. Depending on which Party the candidate you are supporting is with you will be told to skip any that are evidently supporters of the other Party. I say Bull Shit, especially during this Revolution.

Knock on the door and strike up a conversation with the occupant. Direct a brief discussion about issues that concern them in the upcoming election. Sell yourself to them as a citizen who basically has the same concerns once you hit on points of agreement. Explain to them how you believe the problems can be corrected. Mention the movement and the goal to return a Free America to our children and our grand children.

Then and only then do you mention the candidate you are supporting who has the same beliefs and is pledged to serve their term in office to bring about the citizen's demands for a revitalization of America. Thank them for their time and leave some literature. This has taken about 10-12 minutes and you have made a lasting impression.

The number of Independent voters is growing by huge numbers as things deteriorate. We have a state group called Indy Texans with a web site at <http://indytexans.org>. This is not an Independent Party, rather they work with candidates regardless of Party based on their qualifications. There is also a national headquarters. One of the Board Members for Indy Texans also sits on the National Board of Independent voters. Her name is Linda Curtis and it has been a real pleasure working with her this past year. That just may be the best solution for the 2010 election.

Linda can be reached at ljcurtis@indytexans.org and can probably help direct you to like minded individuals or groups in your state.

It is not necessary to give a cash donation to a candidate. We stated when we began this association that TMRA 2 would not support any candidate financially. That is why we oppose PACs. We go out and do the work that a candidate normally has to pay to get done. We recently had a State Rep that we put into office speak at one of our meetings.

She told the crowd, I don't need you to give me any money. I would rather have you out knocking on doors for me one weekend than give me $1000. You do a much better job than anyone I pay to do it. They are just doing it for money but you are doing it because you believe in me. It shows when you are talking." If of course you can't get there to work personally then donations with no strings attached are very welcome.

When an incumbent runs for reelection the media follows them around and reports on everything they do and say as news. If you have chosen to support a non-incumbent (we hope you have) write letters to the editor reporting on what they are doing and saying. Ask why they are not reporting on that candidate.

If they receive enough letters they will decide maybe that is news and your candidate gets coverage. It resonates with the public and it is all free advertising.

And finally: Write a letter to the winner of the presidential election the day after they are sworn in and make them aware that you have read the Constitution and realize that most of what they promised during the campaign is unconstitutional. Let them know you will be watching to see if they keep their oath to uphold and defend the Constitution. To you the oath they take upon being sworn in is far more important than any campaign promises they made. If they stand true to that oath the other shit will take care of itself.

Let everyone know what is happening in your Congressional District, especially if you get a group formed in your area. Sign up for forum@bikerrepublic.org I have set up a site info@texaspoliticsbikerstyle.com and will respond to any questions or post any updates on that site. What do we expect to see happen as a result of this purging?

- Pass a Balanced Budget Bill during the first 100 days that does not allow any exceptions.
- Conduct a Bipartisan Committee hearing on the feasibility for a Constitutional Amendment to limit the Supreme Court Justice's terms to 12 years. As Thomas Jefferson said:

“At the establishment of our constitutions, the judiciary bodies were supposed to be the most helpless and harmless members of the government. Experience, however, soon showed in what way they were to become the most dangerous; that the insufficiency of the means provided for their removal gave them a freehold and irresponsibility in office; that their decisions, seeming to concern individual suitors only, pass silent and unheeded by the public at large; that these decisions, nevertheless, become law by precedent, sapping, by little and little, the foundations of the constitution, and working its change by construction, before any one has perceived that that invisible and helpless worm has been busily employed in consuming its substance. In truth, man is not made to be trusted for life, if secured against all liability to account.”

Thomas Jefferson

- Return those duties specifically delegated to the Federal government but passed instead to private corporations, back into government control. Infrastructure (highways, bridges, Etc), Federal Reserve (print money and set interest rates) and any other such as may exist.

These are just a few of the really important changes that must be made rapidly. Transportation Commissioner Nancy Peters is praising the practice of handing over our infrastructure to foreign interests while at the same time the GAO (Government Accounting Office) is warning of the hidden cost that will bury the system in high hidden costs and dilapidated highway systems.

- Review all Agencies operating under the auspices of the federal government. Those that carry out activities not relegated to the federal government by the Constitution must be phased out and those duties be returned to the states where they rightfully belong.

“In the next place, the state governments are, by the very theory of the constitution, essential constituent parts of the general government. They can exist without the latter, but the latter cannot exist without them.” Joseph Story

- Scrutinize the remainder of the agencies. Those that have already served their purpose or serve no truly necessary purpose should be dissolved.
- The remainder of the agencies which serve overlapping roles must be streamlined into single agencies and made to function more efficiently.
- These steps will in turn streamline the federal government and make it more cost effective.
- Remove the section in each bill which says “and for other purposes” which allows pork spending to run rampant without a hearing or a vote.

You can use that site to report happenings and progress in your area also. It is extremely important that we all have a way to connect. I will also make every effort to get the information out to every website and newsletter that will accept it.

Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi went on national television and blamed the president for the Budget Deficit. According to the Constitution only Congress may write a budget. If anyone is at fault for the deficit it is the House and especially Nancy Pelosi. This $ trillion bailout went through because of the House. They are each one elected every two years.

The Representatives have a small district relatively speaking. If your Congressman has been in office more than six years chances are very good that he/she has lost sight of why they originally ran for office. Most of them have been there for years. Almost none of them adhere to the Constitution. We constantly hear 'Vote the Bastards out' but it seldom happens. Register everyone in your congressional district to vote and share this message with them.

When we go after someone in Texas I tell the whole state we are taking them out next election.

Some examples:

When the Republicans voted to redistrict our congressional districts in Texas in the middle of the stream, Congressman Tom DeLay was very instrumental in that effort. He took my Congressman out of my district but put me in his district. I told everyone he screwed up. Our Warriors began working on that campaign. Tom DeLay stepped down from the race and moved to Virginia (sorry folks).

During that same election they turned Chet Edwards' District Republican for a particular state Rep and were already calling her congresswoman at the state capitol. We said no way and Warriors came from all over the state to keep Chef in that seat. We were successful in that endeavor as well.

We had a State Rep that really got out of line this past session. He was chairman of the Transportation Committee and pushed for passage of the Trans Texas Corridor. I told everyone that his ass was mine. I even announced it on the TV Show several times. He decided not to seek reelection and we will put in the lady we were going to run against him. There are other instances.

I'm not going to tell you it is easy. It's time consuming and can only be done if you meet the qualifications laid out above. You have to carry the desire in your heart and the eternal fire in your guts to stand up to the pressure of making real change. It will become an obsession that directs your life forever after. It does get easier after a time until it just becomes a part of your normal routine. One thing I can promise you. Victory is sweet. When you can stand with your arm outstretched, palm upturned, close your fist and look down at it and marvel at how much power you now hold in your hand over your government you will never want to let it go again.

In this day and time the greatest enemy to our Constitution comes from within. We can't rely on the government to protect it from that enemy because we have given them free reign to destroy this document and the country it protects. You can say you don't have time to do this because you have to work for a living. Just how much is a living?

The size of your house only matters to you. No matter how large it is, you can only be in one room at a time. A BMW or Mercedes Benz won't get you around town any better than a Ford or a bicycle.

There is not one of you out there who won't give your children or grandchildren an expensive present on their Birthday, at Christmas and for other holidays to show how much you love them. You have given them something that will last only a few weeks. Something you bought with money and it is totally worthless. Is that how you profess your love?

The gift we were given was paid for with blood and was intended to last forever. Our Founding Fathers passed this down to their heirs as the greatest gift of all time. It was not given to us. It was placed in trust in the hands of generation after generation to hold, protect and nurture and then pass it on to their heirs. You may consider yourself to be a success based on your monetary wealth but you have been a complete failure in the eyes of those who passed this great gift along to you to keep it alive and inviolate.

May God grant us the guidance and perseverance to stand tall and protect our country from this monster we have created. If we don't do it now I firmly believe that the streets will run red with the blood of our children and our grandchildren in an attempt to retrieve that which we took from them. I am not willing to go to my grave knowing that the gift handed down to us died with us and our heirs must die to retrieve that which we threw away.

Those of you living in the other 49 states have an advantage over those proud Warriors in Texas who took the message on faith and trust and made it work exactly the way it was intended. I have laid out the big picture for you step by step, page by page. Now if we save this nation it will be because we made it happen. If we fail then we will have no one to blame but ourselves. May God be with us in our endeavor and give us all that sweet taste of victory.

THE MAN IN THE GLASS

When you get what you want in your struggle for self, and the world makes you king for a day.

Just go to a mirror and look at yourself, and see what that man has to say.

For it isn't your father or mother or wife, whose judgment upon you must pass.

The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life, is the one staring back from the glass.

Some people might think you're a straight-shooting chum,
And call you a wonderful guy.

But the man in the glass says you're only a bum, if you can't look him straight in the eye.

You may fool the whole world down the pathway of years,
And get pats on the back as you pass,

But your final reward will be heartache and tears,
if you've cheated the man in the glass.

We have a saying in Texas that has guided our steps during our endeavors. "We each must do that which we can do to the best of our ability." We also have a test we take. Look in the mirror each morning and ask yourself, "Have I done that which I can do to the best of my ability?" You can lie to anyone but the person looking back at you at that moment. I take this test every morning and the best I can come up with is "HELL NO, but I'm still trying!"
